EARLY HISTORY OF HONG KONG

The history of the Hong Kong community is really much longer than the history of the territory itself. It begins with the arrival of the first Europeans, the Portuguese, on the China coast, in 1513, and in the problems they faced in trying to establish commercial relations with China, where the main current of authoritative opinion was traditionally not interested in foreign trade.

By dint of persistence, the Portuguese were allowed to establish themselves at Macao, in 1557, but when the British and Dutch reached the Far East, in the first decade of the 17th century, they found their way blocked by Chinese refusal to deal with any Europeans other than the Portuguese. Operating from their base at Bantam, in West Java, the East India Company first established a trading factory near Nagasaki, Japan (1613-23), but it proved a commercial failure and was closed down. Beginning with the Weddell expedition in 1635, a number of British attempts were made to open trade with Canton, Amoy, and other Chinese ports; but it was not until 1700 that regular British trade with China began, as a result of a change in Chinese policy, permitting trade with countries that did not acknowledge China as suzerain.

From then on, European trade with China developed steadily, with the British as the principal European nation concerned. From about 1705 the East India Company had a house in Canton, but Europeans were obliged to quit the city during the off-season. Other European Companies and individual traders soon solved this problem by renting houses in Macao, a practice which, though strictly against Portuguese law, was tolerated. In 1773 East India Company followed the example of other nations and established themselves permanently in Macao, the Company's officers proceeding to Canton for each trading season.

Trade with the Chinese was conducted through a Chinese monopoly guild, charging prices far in excess of market values, and itself subject to ruthless extortion by corrupt officials. Two British diplomatic missions, in 1793 and 1816, failed to obtain better treatment of British merchants in China, or a better basis for international trade; and little change might have been expected had not the East India Company's charter been abolished, in India in 1813, and in China in 1833. These changes were the direct result of the acquisition of power in Great Britain by a new class, owing its wealth and influence to the Industrial Revolution, with free trade as its commercial doctrine. The China trade fell firmly into the hands of those independent merchants who, while the East India Company remained in power, had had only limited chances of showing their capability.

The British led the way in demanding that the Chinese Government provide Europeans with a port, where they could be free to trade with whom they wished, under their own laws. Finally, on the long-term issue of proper treatment for foreign traders, and on the more immediate issue of the import of opium into China, war between Great Britain and China broke out (1839-42). In the course of this, the Emperor's negotiator with a British plenipotentiary, Captain Charles Elliot, R.N. provisionally offered the island of Hong Kong as a trading depot. This offer was immediately accepted, and without waiting for its confirmation the British occupied the island in January 1841. The cession of Hong Kong to the British Crown was confirmed by the Treaty of Nanking, 1842. From the start, Hong Kong was declared a free port, open to all comers, and thus it has grown into one of the world's greatest international trading centres.

In 1860, by the Convention of Peking, Kowloon and Stonecutters' Island were ceded to the Crown; and in 1898, by another Convention of Peking, the area known as the New Territories was leased to Great Britain for 99 years, thus bringing the territory to its present size.

HONG KONG

Prior to 1841 there was no recognised name for the island of Hong Kong. The anchorage at Aberdeen was known to sailors as Heung Kong. The Chinese characters representing the name may be translated by "Fragrant Streams" or "Fragrant Harbour." Another possible rendering is "Heung's Harbour," the haunt of a notorious character named Heung.

Kowloon is the anglicised form of the Chinese Kau Lung (nine dragons). This name is derived from the ridge of nine hills which form a rampart along the northern side of the harbour and seem to guard the approach to China.

A book entitled "China" published in 1847, contains a chapter with the following heading: "Hong Kong, its position, prospects, character and utter worthlessness from every point of view to the English." To-day one laughs at that prophecy. However, when it was written there seemed to be reason for such gloomy forboding for the place had an unenviable reputation for rainstorms, typhoons, pirates, prisoners, malaria, dysentery; etc., and in England contempt for the new colony was expressed in the then popular song, "You may go to Hong Kong for me."

To-day this formerly despised possession is one of the world's busiest ports, and for an eastern city is remarkably clean, peaceable and healthy. As one writer remarks: "Hong Kong is a splendid example of what can be accomplished by energy and capital associated with the courage and restraint that go hand-in-hand with British colonisation. Over 100 years of patient administration by 25 governors and 12 administrators have brought Hong Kong into the front rank of the world's commerce. This happy achievement is due in no small measure to the harmonious working of to two such different peoples as the British and the Chinese."

Hong Kong International Airport is situated on the North shore of Kowloon Bay, three miles from the centre of Kowloon. Regularly used by 31 international airlines which provide frequent services throughout the Far East and to Europe, North America, Africa, Australia and New Zealand. In addition there are many charter airlines using the airport, from which domestic helicopter services are also operated.

The airport makes Hong Kong an important link on the air routes of the Far East, with its 11,130 foot long, 200 foot wide runway built on a promontory of reclaimed land extending south east into Kowloon Bay.

As an international civil airport, it offers full operational facilities, with high and low intensity approach, runway and taxiway lighting, and hazard beacons located at strategic points. Special high intensity "strobe lights" are installed at the south east end of the runway promontory and at various points on the approaches to both runways to aid pilots in condition of poor visibility.

The whole system is integrated with long and medium range surveillance radar a short/medium range terminal radar, an instrument land system a unique instrument guidance system, and various radio navigational beacons.

The terminal building which came into use at the end of 1962 has since been extended to accommodate the increased number of passengers passing through the airport. The freight building has also been extended to provide additional accommodation for the steadily increasing cargo traffic.

In the year ending 31 March 1974, 54,162 aircraft arrived and departed on international flights carrying 3.66 million passengers 3,902 metric tons of mail and 100,721 metric tons of cargo.

Hong Kong's external trade totalled HK$55,004 million in 1973, an increase of 34 per cent on the previous year. Imports increased by 33 per cent to HK$29,005 million, domestic exports by 28 per cent to HK$19,474 million and re-exports by 57 per cent to HK$6,525 million. The main export markets were USA (35 per cent), UK (14 per cent) and West Germany (10 per cent).

Textiles and clothing accounted for more than 50 per cent of total domestic exports. Sales of miscellaneous manufactured articles—mainly plastic toys and dolls, artificial flowers, jewellery and goldsmiths' and silversmiths' wares—made up a further 18 per cent. Continued growth was also registered in exports of electrical machinery, apparatus and appliances (mainly transistor radios, transistors and diodes, and electronic components and parts for computers), accounting for another 13 per cent of total domestic exports. Other light manufactured products such as metal manufactures, travel goods, footwear and watches and clocks were also important exports.

Heavy industry includes ship-building, ship repairing, iron foundries, steel-rolling mills, and the manufacture of machinery and machine tools and parts. The development of modern container terminals has enhanced Hong Kong's position as one of the leading shipping centres in Asia. The aircraft engineering industry provides maintenance and repair facilities for most airlines operating in Asia. Many types of aircraft can be completely overhauled locally—this applies to air frames as well as engines. Agriculture, fishing and some mining are the main primary industries.

The climate is sub-tropical and monsoonal. Winter is cool and dry; summer hot and humid. The mean daily temperature ranges from 15°C in February to 28°C in July. The average annual rainfall is 85 inches, three quarters falling between May and September.

Few places can show such a variety of games and recreations. Golf, tennis and yachting are popular all the year round; football (rugby and association), cricket and hockey are played in the winter months; in the summer lawn bowls, lawn tennis and baseball are played, and perfect bathing is enjoyed. The Jockey Club hold a three-day annual meeting every February in addition to the many other race meetings throughout the season.

In Hong Kong East meets West. The latest from London, Paris and New York can be found cheek by jowl, with all the alluring work of the Orient. If one wishes to travel in town one may do so by motorcar, taxi, bus, tram and rickshaw, while in the harbour motorboats, ferries, launches and sampans are at one's disposal.

The provision of an adequate water supply has always posed difficulties because Hong Kong has no large rivers or underground supplies. In 1963, a 5,390 million gallon reservoir at Shek Pik on Lantau Island was brought into use. Water from it is pumped to Hong Kong Island along eight miles of submarine pipeline. To keep pace with increased demand during the 1960s, Hong Kong embarked on the Plover Cove Scheme, the first reservoir in the world to be formed by damming, draining and restocking a sea inlet. The initial phase of this project, completed in 1968, provide a storage capacity of 37,000 million gallons. The final phase, completed in 1973, raised this capacity to 51,000 million gallons.

Even bigger than Plover Cove, but which follows the same concept, is the HK$1,348 million High Island Scheme which will seal both ends of a sea channel between High Island and the mainland peninsula of Sai Kung. On completion in 1979 this reservoir will provide a storage capacity of 60,000 million gallons. As High Island will be the last potential reservoir even using these extreme methods, Hong Kong began constructing the world's largest desalting plant in 1972. It will begin yielding fresh water daily from 1975 and in 1976 will be producing 40 million gallons a day. Hong Kong also purchases more than 18,000 million gallons of water annually from China.

Hong Kong boasts two universities, a Polytechnic and a technical institute, secondary and primary schools, numerous places of worship, modern hospitals, 100 cinemas, and the finest golf course (at Fanling in the New Territories) in the Far East.

Hong Kong has a large and active press. At the end of August 1974 there were 314 publications of various kinds listed by the Registrar of Newspapers. Of these, 107 were daily newspapers. The remainder were mainly magazines.

Government-owned Radio Hong Kong broadcasts separate Chinese and English programme services on AM and FM. It is financed from general revenue and carries no advertising. Commercial Radio broadcasts three services on AM, two in Chinese and one in English.

Television Broadcasts Ltd. and Rediffusion Television Ltd., both commercial stations, transmit a total of 350 hours of programme material weekly on two Chinese Channels and two English Language Channels—mainly in colour. A third licensee; Commercial Television Ltd., is expected to commence transmission on one channel in Chinese only towards the end of 1975.

Administration

The Government of Hong Kong derives its constitutional authority from Letters Patent and Royal Instructions issued from time to time and is administered by a Governor assisted by an Executive Council and a Legislative Council. The Executive Council, which is consulted by the Governor on all important administrative matters, includes the Commander, British Forces, the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney General, the Secretary for Home Affairs, the Financial Secretary (who are members ex-officio), and such other members, both official and unofficial, as may be appointed. At present there is one appointed official member and eight appointed unofficial members.

The Legislative Council consists of the Governor as President; not more than fourteen official members, four of whom, namely, the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney General, the Secretary for Home Affairs and the Financial Secretary, are ex-officio members; and not more than fifteen unofficial members, who are appointed by the Governor. The procedure of this Council, by which all legislation is enacted and all expenditure from public funds is approved, is based broadly on that of the House of Commons.

TROPICAL CYCLONE PLOTTING MAP

You may use this map for recording the movement of a tropical cyclone, by plotting the estimated positions of its centre from the latitude and longitude values contained in broadcast warning bulletins. These values are given to the nearest tenth of a degree and the precision of the plotted position often will be higher than is warranted by the accuracy of the fix. Therefore, small erratic movements indicated on the plotted track should not necessarily be interpreted as real movements of the tropical cyclone.

HONG KONG'S TROPICAL CYCLONE WARNING SIGNALS

SIGNAL		DISPLAY		MEANING OF the signal	What will happen and what you should do
		Symbol	Lights
STAND BY	1	T	WHITE WHITE WHITE	A TROPICAL CYCLONE IS CENTRED WITHIN ABOUT 400 NAUTICAL MILES OF HONG KONG. The Colony is placed in a state of alert because the tropical cyclone is a potential threat and may cause destructive winds later.	Listen to broadcasts for the latest developments in the weather situation and advice concerning precautions.
STRONG WIND	3	⊥	GREEN WHITE GREEN	STRONG WINDS EXPECTED WITH A SUSTAINED WIND SPEED OF 22-33 KNOTS AND GUSTS WHICH MAY EXCEED 50 KNOTS. The timing of the hoisting of this signal is aimed to give about 12 hours warning of a strong wind in Victoria Harbour.	Secure hoardings, scaffolding, temporary structure and all loose objects, particularly on balconies and roofs. If necessary, tie down or remove them. Do not use lifts or escalators. Do not normally leave for typhoon anchorages or boats. When the wind becomes strong it may affect some ferry services, particularly if the piers are exposed to the wind.
NW'LY GALE OR STORM	8NW	▲	WHITE GREEN GREEN	GALE OR STORM EXPECTED WITH A SUSTAINED WIND SPEED OF 34-63 KNOTS FROM THE QUARTER INDICATED AND GUSTS WHICH MAY EXCEED 100 KNOTS. This signal is hoisted when the sustained wind speed is expected to reach or exceed 34 knots. Storm Signal No. 3, for the appropriate one of these four signals is aimed to give about 12 hours warning of a gale in Victoria Harbour. Expected change in the direction of the wind will be indicated by corresponding changes of these signals.	Full precautions must be completed as soon as possible. It is extremely dangerous to delay. Windows and doors should be bolted and shuttered. As the winds increase, stay indoors to avoid injury. If you must go out keep well clear of overhead wires and buildings. All schools and other public buildings must probably close during a short notice.
SW'LY GALE OR STORM	8SW	▼	GREEN WHITE WHITE
NE'LY GALE OR STORM	8NE	⚡	GREEN GREEN WHITE
SE'LY GALE OR STORM	8SE	➤	WHITE WHITE GREEN
INCREASING GALE OR STORM	9	⌂	GREEN GREEN GREEN	WIND OR STORM EXPECTED TO INCREASE SIGNIFICANTLY IN STRENGTH. This signal will be hoisted when the sustained wind speed is expected to reach or exceed 64 knots and come within the range 48-63 knots during the next low tide.	These signals imply that the centre of a severe tropical storm or a typhoon will pass close to the Colony, if the eye passes over there will be a full lasting storm for a few minutes to some hours but be prepared for a sudden resumption of destructive winds from a different direction. The tide will be high and the wind will be strong. Heavy rain may be expected. The tide will be high at low tide their low lying areas may have to be evacuated very quickly. Heavy rain may cause flooding, dangerous rockfalls and mudslides.
HURRICANE	10	+	RED GREEN RED	WIND OR STORM EXPECTED, WITH SUSTAINED WIND SPEED REACHING 64 KNOTS, TO EXCEED 64 KNOTS AND WITH GUSTS THAT MAY EXCEED 120 KNOTS. This signal is hoisted as soon as there are definite indications that the sustained wind speed will reach or exceed 64 knots and the gusts will reach or exceed 83 knots.

HONG KONG SUMMER TIME:

Clocks are advanced one hour on the first Sunday after 15th April and retarded one hour on the first Sunday after 15th October.

AIR MAIL AND AIR PARCEL SERVICES FROM HONG KONG

General Information

In general the limits of weight and dimensions and other conditions (except postage rates) prescribed for surface mails, apply also to articles to be sent by air. Particulars are available at any Post Office of those categories of articles which are prohibited transmission owing to their dangerous nature.

Countries are divided into four zones according to distance for the purpose of charging air postage on letter mail. The air postage rates for letter mails to the four zones are shown in the table below:

Zones	Letters (each ½ oz.)	Postcards (each) Second Class Mail (each ½ oz.)
1	50 ¢	25 ¢
2	$1.30	65 ¢
3	$2.00	$1.00
4	$2.50	$1.25

A BLUE AIR MAIL LABEL, obtainable free at any post office, should be affixed to all air mail correspondence at the top left hand corner on the address side. Or you may write the words BY AIR MAIL boldly in the same place, but the label is more likely to catch the sorter's eye.

AEROGRAMMES (Air Letter forms) may be sent to all countries at an uniform rate of 50 cents. Enclosures are not permitted. You may get the special forms at Post Offices or use privately-manufactured forms which bear a statement that they have been approved by the Postmaster-General with the approval number. Unapproved forms will be treated as ordinary air mail letters.

SECOND CLASS AIR MAIL. Printed papers, Small Packets, Blind literature, etc., sent by air must conform to the regulations for such articles apart from those relating to weight steps, and must be clearly marked in the upper left hand corner of the cover for the service intended, "Printed Papers", "Small Packets", etc. Such items must not be sealed against inspection and must not contain anything in the nature of a current letter.

INSURED LETTERS AND BOXES may be sent by air to the countries indicated, subject to the same regulations as insured letters and boxes sent by surface. The normal insurance and registration fees are payable in addition to the letter air postage rate in the case of insured letters, and in addition to the second class air postage rate in the case of insured boxes. Insured boxes are subject to the minimum charge of $1.50 plus the insurance and registration fees.

AIR PARCELS may be sent by air to the countries shown, subject to the general regulations applicable to surface parcels as regards weight limitations, customs declarations, despatch notes, compensations, etc. Insured parcels are accepted for the countries indicated. A blue air mail label must be affixed to the address side of the parcel and to the despatch note.

CORRECT POSTAGE ESSENTIAL. Please make sure that the correct postage is paid: underpaid airmail items may be sent by surface route and suffer delay.

(The services and charges set out below are liable to change. Up-to-date information may be obtained at all post offices).
